SELF DEFINITION

I started actively learning programming in 2022. I am motivated and enthusiastic about creating solutions that can help improve people's lives. I enjoy working in team, but I am also confortable working independently. I have great communication skills and nice presentation skills. I am excited to learn more about programming and dive deeper into technologies to grow my own worth. I also have a quite good ability to explain things to others and help them solve their problems

STRENGTHS

I have experience with Laravel and Filament, building a website using Figma design, but I also have small projects using ASP.NET Core, React.JS, PostgreSQL. I have strong communication skills and I have the ability to create engaging presentations. Learning new things and technologies feels comfortable for me indeed I looking forward to expand my knowledge.

Pet projects

VisualizeDo: https://github.com/fehervendel/VisualizeDo
With this project you can create different boards for your tasks, order them into unique lists and organize your goals into cards. My main goal is to create a useful and responsive program with nice user interface.

ShopWave: https://github.com/fehervendel/ShopWave
This is my first own laravel project. I used this project to learn and practice Laravel. I was following a figma design while I also added my own elements to the page.
